Chaplain's Message

"Children Learn What They Live" (on page 2) is a poem that has encouraged many parents and teachers to develop an atmosphere where children learn to trust and be trustworthy, to be confident in their own worthiness and to encourage others as well. A child's world view is molded by what she or he experiences.

As we mature, we have the opportunity to mold our own world view by choosing some of our own experiences and deciding what we dwell on mentally. The apostle Paul must have known this as he wrote a letter to the Christians in Philippi- a letter that we now know as the New Testament book of Philippians.

It sounds like Paul had a thesaurus by his side as he encourages the early Christians to be intentional about what they think and how they act, so that they may abide in God's peace: "Finally, beloved, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is pleasing, whatever is commendable, if there is any excellence and if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things. Keep on doing the things that you have learned and received and heard and seen in me, and the God of peace will be with you." (Philippians 4:8-9, NRSV)

It is good advice for us today as well: as you enjoy catching up on schoolwork and rest over Reading Days, fix your minds on the things that are the best, the most worthy of praise, that you, too, may dwell in God's peace.

Blessings, Alison

Children Learn What They Live

If children live with criticism, they learn to condemn.
If children live with hostility, they learn to fight.
If children live with fear, they learn to be apprehensive.
If children live with pity, they learn to feel sorry for themselves.
If children live with ridicule, they learn to feel shy.
If children live with jealousy, they learn to feel envy.
If children live with shame, they learn to feel guilty.
If children live with encouragement, they learn confidence.
If children live with tolerance, they learn patience.
If children live with praise, they learn appreciation.
If children live with acceptance, they learn to love.
If children live with approval, they learn to like themselves.
If children live with recognition, they learn it is good to have a goal.
If children live with sharing, they learn generosity.
If children live with honesty, they learn truthfulness.
If children live with fairness, they learn justice.
If children live with kindness and consideration, they learn respect.
If children live with security, they learn to have faith in themselves and in those about them.
If children live with friendliness, they learn the world is a nice place in which to live.

"The Fever: How Malaria Ruled Humankind for 500 Years"

Tuesday, October 18th, 2011; Arts Center Theatre A-14, 7:30pm (Reception following)
Speaker: Ms. Sonia Shah

Based on her recent book by the same title, Ms. Shah's lecture traces the history of malaria and the centuries-long battle to treat and prevent the disease in numerous regions of the world. Her talk is based on five years of research and reporting carried out in areas still affected by Malaria. Ms. Shah contemplates how and why hundreds of millions of people are infected annually in spite of available preventions. Sonia Shah is an investigative journalist and author of critically acclaimed and prizewinning books on science, human rights, and international politics. Growing up, she shuttled between the northeastern United States where her parents practiced medicine and Mumbai and Bangalore, India, where her extended working-class family lived. She developed a life-long interest in inequality between and within societies.

Shah has been featured on current affairs shows around the United States, as well as on the BBC and Australia's Radio National. Her writing on human rights, medicine, and politics have appeared in a range of magazines from Playboy, Salon, and Orion to The Progressive and Knight-Ridder.

WE WANT YOU!!!

TAKE AN ACTIVE ROLE IN PROTESTANT WORSHIP!

Whether you are helping plan or prepare for worship, greeting people, preparing snack, singing in the choir or cleaning up, worship is more meaningful when you are involved.

How is God calling YOU to be a leader in worship on campus this semester?

Advent Service Retreat: New Orleans, LA

December 17-23,2011

Through direct service and theological reflection, this Advent retreat is a profound experience of personal and social transformation that occurs when we engage in community service as critical thinkers living in faith and solidarity. By combining service and reflection you will discover more about yourself, your community and God's desire for your life.

Why New Orleans?

Even though it has been 6 years since Hurricane Katrian hit, the need for assitance is still great. We will be working with Operation Helping Hands sponsored by Catholic Charities of New Orleans. The majority of our work will be rebuilding: drywall, interior and exterior paiting, flooring, trim carpentry and insulation. No building experience is necessary. Much work still needs to be done!

SPACE LIMITED TO 19 STUDENTS

Out-of-pocket costs per student is $225.00 (partial scholarships available). This includents airfare, ground transporation, room and board. • Prefence will be given to students who have not gone to the Katrina region before. • Invitation to participate will be made on application and interview. • If you are selected to participate, you must attend 4 prep meetings and participating in fund-raising is required.

Please e-mail Jamie Fazio at jfazio1@naz.edu if you would like an application.
